

1. Baysgarth House
2. Bardney Hall
3. The Volunteer Arms
4. The Old Mill
5. The George Hotel
6. The King Street Shops
7. Cob Hall
8. Houses in Priestgate
9. St Mary's Lane
10. The Beck
11. The Old Vicarage
12. St Peter's Church
13. Tyrwhitt Hall
14. Whitecross Street
15. 55-57 Whitecross Street
16. Laurel House
17. No 51 Whitecross Street
18. No 41 Whitecross Street

During the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries Barton grew as a small but prosperous market town on the south bank of the Humber estuary.

A number of splendid new houses were built in this period as well as a number of pleasant terraces. This trail attempts to lead the visitor around some of the best of these buildings and the streets in which they stand.

Georgian Walk

Discover Barton

Town Walks:
Georgian Walk

Barton upon Humber has a rich and varied history like many Market Towns in England, however it stands apart from the rest by virtue of the in-depth research and numerous publications about the town's heritage.

This walk is one of a series of 5 free leaflets produced by Barton upon Humber Civic Society

Urban walks:

Victorian Walk
Georgian Walk
Waterside Walk

Rural walks:

Parish pathways Inland
Parish pathways Humber Bank and area

These walks give a brief insight into Barton's past which can be followed in greater detail in the Town Guide reprinted by the Civic Society in 2007.

Further reading is available through the extensive work of the Barton on Humber Branch of the Workers' Education Association. Currently in print and available to buy are the following titles:

Great Changes in Barton: 1793 – 1900
by Rex C. Russell
The Medieval Churches of Barton on Humber
by Geoffrey F. Bryant
Barton and the River Humber 1086 – 1900
by Rodney Clapson
The Church in Victorian Barton
by Dinah Tyszka

Also available:

Published by the Community, Heritage, Arts & Media Project (CHAMP)
My Childhood Playground by Ron Newton

Published by Fathom Press (available from July 2007)

Family Ties by Nick Tripblow
Ropeworks by Will Fenton

This walk is one of a series produced by members of the Barton-upon-Humber Civic Society Heritage Trail Sub-Committee. The walks are designed to focus on a particular part of the town and should take about an hour to complete.

Every attempt has been made to ensure the accuracy of the information contained in this leaflet. No responsibility can be accepted for any remaining errors.

Barton-upon-Humber Civic Society aims to maintain a pleasant townscape by helping to preserve buildings of historic or architectural importance and encouraging the construction of new buildings of good design. Our programme of activities includes illustrated talks, walks and help with practical projects. There are also visits to other villages, towns and cities.

Acknowledgements

Thanks to the residents of Barton for information, in particular John French, Claire Halstad, the late Ron Newton and Rex Russell.

Barton upon Humber Civic Society
OS licence number 100047082

First published 1994; reprinted 1998; redesigned and reprinted 2007

