

Parish Pathways Humber Bank and area

This walk is one of a series produced by members of the Barton-upon-Humber Civic Society from originals produced in 2001 by the Parish Paths Partnership. The walks are designed to focus on a particular part of the parish.

Every attempt has been made to ensure the accuracy of the information contained in this leaflet. No responsibility can be accepted for any remaining errors.

Barton-upon-Humber Civic Society aims to maintain a pleasant townscape by helping to preserve buildings of historic or architectural importance and encouraging the construction of new buildings of good design. Our programme of activities includes illustrated talks, walks and help with practical projects. There are also visits to other villages, towns and cities.

Acknowledgements

Text and research Richard Clarke

The map is a detail from Ordnance Survey No.281 Ancholme Valley, Explorer Map 1:25 000 scale
Barton upon Humber Civic Society
OS licence number 100047082

First published 2001; redesigned and reprinted 2007

Barton upon Humber has a rich and varied history like many Market Towns in England, however it stands apart from the rest by virtue of the in-depth research and numerous publications about the town's heritage.

This walk is one of a series of 5 free leaflets produced by Barton upon Humber Civic Society

Town walks:

- Victorian Walk
- Georgian Walk
- Waterside Walk

Rural walks:

- Parish pathways Inland
- Parish pathways Humber Bank and area

These walks give a brief insight into Barton's past which can be followed in greater detail in the Town Guide reprinted by the Civic Society in 2007.

Further reading is available through the extensive work of the Barton on Humber Branch of the Workers' Education Association. Currently in print and available to buy are the following titles:

- Great Changes in Barton: 1793 – 1900
by Rex C. Russell
- The Medieval Churches of Barton on Humber
by Geoffrey F. Bryant
- Barton and the River Humber 1086 – 1900
by Rodney Clapson
- The Church in Victorian Barton
by Dinah Tyszka

Also available:

- Published by the Community, Heritage, Arts & Media Project (CHAMP)
- My Childhood Playground by Ron Newton

Published by Fathom Press (available from July 2007)

- Family Ties by Nick Triplov
- Robeworks by Will Fenton

Discover
Barton

Rural Walks:
Parish Pathways
Humber Bank
and area

